

AWARDS TO RECOGNISE POLITICAL INNOVATION

Now in its third year, the Innovation in Politics Awards 2019 will highlight new and inspiring projects that have made an impact at local, regional and national levels across Europe.

Established in 2017 by the Vienna-based Innovation in Politics Institute, the Awards provide an opportunity to acknowledge politicians who are making a difference and to highlight Irish innovation to the rest of Europe.

Partnered in Ireland by the School of Law and Government at Dublin City University (DCU), the Innovation in Politics Awards will again aim to identify and promote innovative political decision-making, having a real and positive difference to people and communities in Ireland, according to Dr Deiric O’Broin, from DCU’s School of Law and Government.

“Political courage and vision are often required to make things happen that result in effective solutions to issues at a local, regional, national or international level. It’s important to showcase examples of good politics, even more so when trust in politics needs rebuilding,” he added.

Ronny Zuckermann, co-founder of the Innovation in Politics Institute, noted: “The Awards provide a platform to inspire people about the value of democracy and politics.

“They promote exceptional efforts of politicians to work towards strengthening European values and better social balance, and engage people to be involved in decision-making that affects them and their communities.”

THE INNOVATION IN POLITICS AWARDS

Anyone in Ireland can nominate a local councillor, TD, Senator or MEP or a group of politicians for an award. Any politician can also submit an innovative project in one of the following eight categories:

1. Human Rights, 2. Democracy, 3. Community, 4. Ecology, 5. Civilisation,
6. Prosperity, 7. Jobs, 8. Quality of life

A politician or group of politicians must have played a key role in making a project possible, and all projects must meet at least one of the following additional criteria – participation, building trust or sustainability.

Projects must have been financed (at least partially) by public funds, had a substantial impact on the lives of people and be in agreement with the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. Projects which are not legible for entry include communication campaigns, events, scientific studies and projects currently at the planning stage.

The Innovation in Politics Awards will be presented at a Europe-wide gala event in Berlin on 4 December 2019.

The 2019 awards ceremony will be held in Berlin, as announced at the closing ceremony in Vienna City Hall last November by Edward Strasser, co-founder of the Innovation in Politics Institute.
