

DUBLIN CLIMATE ACTION WEEK 2024 TO SHOWCASE SUSTAINABLE STEPS

Dublin Climate Action Week 2024 will feature the latest regional and local events covering a range of environmental topics and showcase the latest Climate Action Plans adopted in each of Dublin’s four local authorities.

The programme of events for the third Dublin Climate Action Week will be organised through a partnership of Dublin’s Climate Action Regional Office (CARO), South Dublin County Council, Dún Laoghaire-Rathdown County Council, Fingal County Council, Dublin City Council and Codema – Dublin’s Energy Agency.

Climate action is a priority at local and national government levels with a strong focus on community engagement and implementation of action within each of the local authority Climate Action Plans 2024-2029. Important steps towards a sustainable and inclusive future are taken within the local communities and Dublin Climate Action Week will seek to showcase the work taking place across the city and county of Dublin.

The shared objective of Dublin Climate Action Week is to demonstrate progress on the implementation of the four Dublin local authority Climate Action Plans, and a regional approach to climate action.

Pictured at the launch of the third Dublin Climate Action Week (l-r): Paul Kennedy, Director of Infrastructure and Climate Change at Dún Laoghaire-Rathdown County Council; Teresa Walsh, Director of Environment, Water and Climate Change at South Dublin County Council; Derek Kelly, Executive Manager Environment & Transportation Department at Dublin City Council, and David Storey Director of Environment, Climate Action and Active Travel at Fingal County Council.

A promotional banner for Dublin Climate Action Week 2024. The background is a scenic view of a coastline with hills and flowers in the foreground. The text '9 - 15 September 2024' is at the top. Below it, 'DUBLIN CLIMATE ACTION WEEK' is written in large white letters. To the right is a circular logo featuring a house, a sun, and two people. At the bottom, the website 'www.dublinclimateactionweek.ie' and the hashtag '#DCAW24' are displayed.

Dublin City Council’s Executive Manager and the Directors of Services in South Dublin, Dún Laoghaire-Rathdown and Fingal County Councils (who are responsible for climate action) said that Dublin Climate Action Week is “an excellent opportunity for local authorities and the communities we serve to come together and showcase the great work already underway to deliver on our climate goals and build momentum towards future actions through our Climate Action Plans 2024-2029.”

They added that the diverse programme of events will “offer a range of ways for people to connect, learn, share and engage with initiatives and activities which seek to build a brighter future for everyone”.

Dublin Climate Action Week 2024 aim to provide an opportunity to strengthen connections between groups, businesses, and organisations within the community. The full programme of events is now available on the event's website.